

FADE IN:

EXT. STREET, BOSTON, DECEMBER

Cold. Light snow falls onto a businesses and residences. Cars in the slow traffic. On the sidewalks people hurry to finish their pre-holiday shopping.

INT. CHEVY CONVERTIBLE - DAY

MAX (35), an athletically built man, drives with the rooftop down. Music is playing from the car. Snow falls on his head and shoulders. He looks out at the crowd. The traffic light turns red.

EXT. SIDEWALK - DAY

EMMA (29) stands near the crosswalk, waiting for the green light. She sees the top of Max's Chevy as the car approaches. She looks curiously at Max. He stops at the light and turns his head toward her. She smiles, as if he sees something unexpected.